Talking to Action: Art, Pedagogy, and Activism in the Americas is the first publication to bring together scholarship, critical essays, and documentation of collaborative community-based art making by researchers and artists from across the American hemisphere. This volume is a compendium of texts, analysis, and research documents from the Talking to Action research and exhibition platforms as part of Pacific Standard Time: LA/LA, an initiative of the Getty.

The Chicago Social Practice History Series was developed by the School of the Art Institute of Chicago's Department of Exhibitions and Exhibition Studies as part of the series of exhibitions, programs, and symposium launched in 2014 as "A Lived Practice."

Talking to Action: Art, Pedagogy, and Activism in the Americas was developed by Otis College of Art and Design as a research project, symposium, and exhibition as part of Pacific Standard Time: LA/LA, a far-reaching and ambitious exploration of Latin American and Latino art in dialogue with Los Angeles, taking place from September 2017 through January 2018 at more than 70 cultural institutions across Southern California. Pacific Standard Time is an initiative of the Getty. The presenting sponsor is Bank of America.

As part of an exhibition tour organized by Independent Curators International (ICI), Talking to Action was presented in collaboration with the School of the Art Institute of Chicago, Arizona State University Art Museum, and Yerba Buena Center for the Arts.
